

Acceptance Test

The following conclusions/predictions can be drawn from the analysis on the dataset:

I. Able to match right interns with right HRs using the Machine Learning Model report obtaining the accuracy of 87.58 percent.

II. Predict if the student applying for the internship would be selected or not.

III. Reduce the workload and time consumed while selecting the suitable candidates.

IV. It can also be used by the applicants to know which are the more suitable internship for them.

V. Reduce the chances of error of selection a less suitable applicant when a more suitable one is present.